

Chad Farrell

Founder / CEO

Encore Renewable Energy

Chad Farrell is the Founder and CEO of Encore Renewable Energy, a leading integrated clean energy company focusing on commercial-scale solar PV systems and 21st century solutions for underutilized property. At Encore, Mr. Farrell has led collaborative efforts to design, permit, finance and construct over 50 different solar PV projects throughout the State of Vermont and beyond, including the largest rooftop solar arrays in the state, the first 500kW commercial group net metering project, and what was for a time the largest solar PV array in the State of Vermont. Mr. Farrell is a developer, project manager and environmental engineer with over 20 years of professional experience in the fields of environmental engineering, professional project management and renewable energy project development. He holds a Bachelor of Science Degree in Mechanical Engineering from Bucknell University and earned a Master of Science in Environmental Engineering from the University of Vermont.